

EISENHOWER'S CONDITION IS 'EXCELLENT'

Nixon Presides As President's Cabinet Meets

Group Agrees No
Obstacles Exist
To Conduct of Gov't

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's Cabinet, meeting under the chairmanship of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, agreed today that "no obstacles" exist to the orderly conduct of government business during the President's illness.

The Cabinet announced its conclusion after a session of almost 2 1/2 hours at the White House.

In addition to regular Cabinet members, the meeting was attended by a number of other top level government officials.

A formal statement issued by the White House as the meeting was concluded said:

"The members of the Cabinet were greatly cheered by the reports of steady progress and improvement in the President's health.

"After full discussion of pending matters, it was concluded that there are no obstacles to the orderly and uninterrupted conduct of the foreign and domestic affairs of the nation during the period of rest ordered by the President's physicians."

The Cabinet statement appeared to rule out officially any consideration of a formal delegation of presidential authority to Nixon, unless there is a change in the situation.

It was the second day in a row that Nixon had sat in for President Eisenhower at a top level administration conference. He presided Thursday over a national Security Council meeting which he indicated was concerned with the budget and early preparations for Mr. Eisenhower's State of the Union message in January.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson dealt what looked like the coup de grace to budget balancers Thursday when he uncorked an estimate that military spending will run a half billion dollars higher. Wilson said, "We don't see how we can do it."

The cabinet was expected to decide today whether to hold weekly meetings during President Eisenhower's period of recovery from his heart attack. The Security Council already has decided to convene weekly, but Nixon made plain Thursday that any basic policy decisions "will be made in the future by the President."

It was the third time Nixon had presided over a cabinet meeting and the first meeting of the cabinet since Mr. Eisenhower's illness. To be on hand for any such duties Nixon plans to remain in Washington until Mr. Eisenhower is able to return to his White House office.

Besides the gloomy budget picture, the cabinet presumably was concerned with the troubled farm situation, worry over Egypt's intention over buying heavy arms from Communist countries, and the foreign minister's meeting in Geneva next month.

Elect Officers At Saline Baptist Ass'n Meeting

A total of 318 persons registered yesterday at the Saline Association meeting held in Eldorado at the Baptist church.

At yesterday's sessions Rev. O. C. Cooper, host pastor, was re-elected moderator, and elected to serve as associate moderator was Rev. Clayton Humphrey of Harrisburg. Rev. Ernest Ammon of Carrier Mills was re-elected clerk, and Rev. Howard Todd Taylor of Raleigh, assistant clerk.

Reports were received from the 32 churches in the association whose aggregate membership is 8,489. There were 345 baptisms reported with McKinley Avenue topping the list with 60. Harrisburg First Baptist was second with a total of 34.

Total gifts to all missions during the past year amounted to $53,624.84.

Rev. Joe Morman delivered the annual sermon in the morning and the afternoon speaker was Rev. William Fuson, pastor of the Dorrisville Baptist church.

Last night's speaker was George Wheeler, state secretary of Brotherhood for the Illinois Baptist association.

Rev. Roy Reynolds, pastor of the Gaskins City Baptist church, presented the doctrinal sermon this morning and Dr. H. L. Waters reported on the Baptist Theological Seminary Extension Center in Harrisburg.

The closing message was by Rev. L. C. Irby.

You Push that Valve Around--and Water Comes Out Here; City Makes Big Switch

Cop-Killer Identified by Woman as Slayer of Disc-Jockey's Assistant

CHICAGO (AP)—Cop-killer Richard Carpenter, who was captured in Chicago's greatest manhunt in recent years last month, has been identified as the murderer of a disc-jockey's assistant, police said today.

Carpenter, 25, was picked out as he stood before a judge Thursday at a hearing on his murder of detective William J. Murphy last Aug. 15.

Mrs. Carol Houston, 20, stood within a few feet of the slayer and then told authorities she was positive she saw Carpenter kill Richard Dix, 24, on May 10, 1954.

Mrs. Houston, then Miss Carol Giddins, was with Dix in his car in the early morning hours when a young gunman forced his way in. The man bound Dix, a phonograph turn-table operator, and then ripped off the woman's clothes.

Dix, meanwhile, loosened his bonds and drew a small pocket knife. As he lunged at the attacker, the man whirled and fired five times. He fled as Dix lay dying.

Mrs. Houston said Carpenter started when he saw her in court Thursday "and when he looked at me he knew that I knew him."

Carpenter denied recognizing the woman.

It was reported that the Cook

County grand jury voted a true bill charging Carpenter with the Dix murder a short time later.

Carpenter killed detective Murphy on a subway platform last August and, two days later, shot it out with another policeman in a movie theater. He fled to a near by home and kept a family captive for 23 hours until the husband tricked him and managed to call police.

Seeks Damages

Harold McNew seeks $297.98 in damages from the Humm Motor Co. as a result of a collision on East Poplar street December 15, 1954. The complaint, filed for McNew by Atty. Robert V. Wilson, points out that McNew's auto and one owned by the motor car company, driven by Otis Threest Jr., an employee, collided.

Eldorado and Carrier Mills to Aid S. A. Drive

John W. Biggers, chairman of the Salvation Army drive in Saline County, reported to the Oct. 47, reports enthusiastic response from Eldorado and Carrier Mills, where the drives will be held in conjunction with the Harrisburg campaign.

The Eldorado chairman, John Murphy, and assistants, Lee Skaggs and Omar Hobbs, will be aided by workers from the various Eldorado organizations who will take over solicitation of funds. In Carrier Mills, the chairman, Carl Alexander, will be assisted by Raymond Field and Mrs. F. F. Pankey, and volunteers from the World One Veterans organization, the Woman's club and other women's organizations will help solicit funds.

To night at the Harrisburg-Eldorado football game, to be played at Eldorado, Salvation Army officer, Lt. Andrew Sands, will be introduced to the crowd, and the cheer leaders will solicit funds from the Harrisburg and Eldorado fans, in a contest between the cheer leaders of the two schools as to which school can collect the most to aid the fund drive by the Salvation Army.

Dodgers Crush Yankees, 8-3, At Ebbets Field

Johnny Podres
Pitches Himself Fine
Birthday Present

BROOKLYN (AP)—Young Johnny Podres pitched himself "the finest birthday present I ever had" as the battered Brooklyn Dodgers came home to friendly Ebbets Field today and crushed the front-running New York Yankees, 8-3, in the third game of the World Series.

Play by play follows:
Yankees First: Cerv grounded out. Podres to Hodges. McDougald flied to Snider. Berra lined to Furillo. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers First: Gilliam flied deep to Mantle. Reese walked on four pitches. Snider struck out. Campanella hit a home run into the left centerfield stands scoring Reese ahead of him and making it 2-0 in favor of Brooklyn. It was Campanella's first hit of the series. Mantle made a good running catch of Furillo's liner to right center.

Two runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Yankees Second: Mantle hit a home run into the extreme centerfield lower grandstand about 400 feet from the plate. Skowron doubled down the leftfield foul line. Bessent, a right-hander, began warming up for Brooklyn. Robinson threw out Howard. Martin struck out on a slow curve. Rizzuto singled to left and Amoros threw to the plate in plenty of time to get Skowron but he knocked the ball out of Campanella's mitt for an error and Rizzuto moved to third when the ball bounced into the Dodger dugout. It was Campanella's first error in four different years of World Series play. Robinson leaped high for Turley's bouncer and threw him out.

Two runs, three hits, one error, one left.

Dodgers Second: All three Yankee outfielders changed positions. Mantle going to rightfield, Howard to left and Cerv to center, giving Mantle less ground to cover with his injured thigh. Hodges flied deep to Cerv in right center. Robinson singled sharply to center. Amoros was hit in the thigh by a pitched ball. He limped badly and Dodger trainer Dr. Harold Wendler came out to give him a rub-down. He stayed in the game and went to first. Podres hit a slugged bunt which Turley grabbed but couldn't hold and the Dodger pitcher beat it out for a hit to load the bases. Tom Morgan, a right-hander, began warming up for New York. Gilliam walked on five pitches forcing home Robinson and making it 3-2 for Brooklyn. Morgan was summoned to replace Turley on the mound. Reese walked on four pitches, forcing home Gilliam. Kucks, a rookie right hander, started warming up in the Yankee bullpen. Snider forced Podres at the plate, Skowron to Berra. Campanella lined to Martin.

Yankees Third: Cerv struck out. Gilliam crossed over near second base to take McDougald's grounder and throw him out. Berra

Heavy Rains Hit Illinois Areas

By United Press

Heavy rains and lightning flooded streets and basements and knocked down power lines. Trees 11 m. b. and television antennas across central Illinois Thursday. Heaviest rains were reported at Effingham where 4.5 inches fell in 45 minutes.

The rains flooded streets and basements, but were welcomed by residents who had been asked to conserve water because of low reservoir levels. The Effingham rainfall was a half inch more than the city's total for the previous 30 days.

Winds accompanying the rain cut off power for a time and knocked down tree limbs and television aerials.

A 3.5 inch downpour fell in four hours at Decatur, stalling cars in flooded subways and filling gutters to overflowing. Lightning struck wiring at one home and caused several interruptions of power.

Lightning also hit Mattoon and Clinton and started a fire in the exhaust stacks of a group of crude oil storage tanks near Kincaid. The fire was quickly extinguished by workmen who smothered the burning fumes with their coats.

The Weather Bureau issued a tornado warning for the Springfield area, but no twisters were reported. Hail accompanied the rain at scattered points.

American Freed by Red China Refuses to Complete Trip Home; Stops at Wake Island

WAKE ISLAND (AP)—Dilmus Kanady, Texas businessman freed from a Chinese prison last Monday, refused today to complete his return to the United States.

It was believed that Kanady, 36, of Houston, feared that if he returned to the United States he would be sent back to Red China. Passengers aboard his plane said Kanady twice had attempted to jump out during the flight from Tokyo to Wake Island.

Alfred J. Millet of Plattsburg, N. Y., who is returning from Laos where he had worked for the International Cooperation Administration, said in Honolulu that Kanady was induced both times to return to his seat.

Millet said Kanady acted as though he had claustrophobia. "I understand how he felt," Millet said, "because I've had similar feelings in Laos. You get the feeling they're closing in on you every once in a while."

Kanady stepped off a Pan American Airways plane as it landed on Wake Island. He presented his baggage check to Capt. T. F. George and politely insisted on ending his flight here.

Prisoner 4 1/2 Years
Passengers said Kanady looked "terribly undernourished," possibly 60 or 70 pounds underweight.

The passengers, who declined to be identified, said that when the plane landed on Wake, Kanady said he knew he was on American territory and wanted to stay around.

One passenger quoted him as saying he wanted to remain because "it's the first bit of American soil I've seen since my imprisonment."

Another passenger who had traveled with him from Hong Kong said at times Kanady still appeared to think he was still in China and acted with an air of secrecy and great fear.

Kanady was a prisoner of the Reds for 4 1/2 years. When the Communists released him last Monday, he was reported to be in the poorest physical condition of any of the Americans freed by the Reds. At first doctors wanted to send a nurse with him on his homeward trip, but later they decided he could make the trip alone.

The letter was written by the 60-year-old Peron aboard the storm-tossed Paraguayan gunboat where he has waited for 11 days to go into voluntary exile. It was addressed to 16-year-old Nedda (Nelly) Rivas, the daughter of a night-watchman and a frequent overnight visitor to Peron's mansion in Olivos.

Government sources said Peron pressed the letter into the hands of a Paraguayan gunboat sailor but the sailor delivered it to the Paraguayan Embassy instead of the dark-haired beauty. It was turned over to the new provisional government.

"You are all that I have left now that the workers have deserted me," officials quoted the letter.

Arrest Questioned
Nelly was picked up by police for questioning. They wanted to know how she had acquired thousands of dollars worth of jewels, Paris gowns, rare perfumes and sparkling trinkets of the sort Peron once lavished on his late wife, Eva.

Though Nelly had a fortune, it was a pittance compared with the possessions Peron left behind in his flight—20 million dollars in cash, hoards of gold and jewels in his luxury-lined secret apartments, and a newspaper and radio empire that spread through a holding company across Latin America into the United States and Canada.

Details of Peron's vast publishing empire came to light when authorities discovered a secret bomb-proof and gas-proof chamber with walls 14 inches thick where Peron was believed to have spent his last hours before fleeing to the Paraguayan gunboat.

The hideaway 23 feet below street level had its own electric generator and a powerful radio-telephone intended to link it with the state radio.

But the major item of interest was a schematic diagram framed and hung on the walls of the apartment showing a bust of Peron in the center beneath crossed quills and a drawing of a printing press.

Mrs. Bessie Brown started raking her fallen leaves Thursday—after she had lost her wrist watch set with two diamonds.

While she raked the watch was found in front of Har's store, and was returned to The Register by the woman who found it. She must be thoroughly fed up with good deeds, for while she was in The Register office to leave the lost watch, her automobile was posted with a police ticket for parking violation. If she will contact Mrs. Brown the latter will gladly refund her traffic violation fine.

Guess how Mrs. Brown would have found out that her watch was safe if she hadn't called The Register AFTER all that leaf raking?

Sleeps Without Oxygen Tent For First Time

President to Scrawl 'D. E.' on
Two Documents

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower's doctors said today that he had an "excellent night"—the first use of that term—and slept without his oxygen tent for the first time since he was hospitalized.

In their 7 a. m. MST (8 a. m. CST) bulletin the physicians said Mr. Eisenhower's "progress continues to be satisfactory without complication."

The use of the word "excellent" as observed as significant because in the past the doctors have not gone beyond such cautious terms as "comfortable" and "satisfactory."

The bulletin from Fitzsimons Army Hospital said the chief executive slept almost continuously from 9 p. m. until 6:30 a. m. as he continued his slow but steady recovery from the heart attack which felled him last Saturday.

Meanwhile, one of the President's specialists, Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, said in New York that every day without complications in the President's illness counts in his favor, and that within a month doctors will be able to estimate how active the chief executive can expect to be in the future.

White, one of the world's leading medical authorities on the heart, also said that if he were in the President's position, "I think I wouldn't want to run again, from what I have seen of the strain."

White made his observations during a television interview.

The President was to remain in his hospital bed throughout the day but he will become a working President for a few moments and scrawl "D. E." on two documents that he must sign.

The fact that his physicians consider him in good enough shape to do this, though the documents won't raise his blood pressure and signing them won't exert him more than scratching his nose was more encouraging news than ever.

Everyone at the temporary White House was cheered but his physicians pointed out that his condition could become bad again and that no matter how encouraging the signs of recovery are, his long recuperation period will not be shortened.

The documents are promotions and salary increase lists for foreign service officers. If they aren't signed by midnight, the officers can't get the raises.

There were several strong signs of the president's gradual but steady recovery.

Removal of the oxygen tent, cutting down his electrocardiograms from two to one a day, the President's plans to initiate the documents, and the scheduled arrival late today of presidential assistant Sherman Adams to take over direction of the temporary White House staff here.

The decision for Adams to come to Denver put to rest speculation that the President might delegate part of his powers to some other official during his illness.

Adams, the President's top administrative deputy, was to fly here after the cabinet meeting in Washington and will remain to get the White House back in functioning shape for the day when the President can gradually resume some of his duties.

Evansville Woman

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A former Evansville, Ind., woman now living in Milwaukee made plans today for a reunion with her son she hasn't seen in 11 years.

Mrs. Pleiss found her son through the aid of the Red Cross. She said she had been divorced from Gerald's father when the boy was two years old, in Evansville.

The father, Jack Pleiss, had placed Gerald in a foster home and joined the Army. He now is stationed in Germany. Mrs. Freda last saw her son when he was 8 years old in Evansville, before moving to Milwaukee with her second husband.

Intercept Peron Love Letter To Bobby Soxer

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—An intercepted love letter from ex-President Juan D. Peron to a 16-year-old bobby soxer today tore away the last veil concealing the former dictator's fantastic life of luxury and licentiousness.

The letter was written by the 60-year-old Peron aboard the storm-tossed Paraguayan gunboat where he has waited for 11 days to go into voluntary exile. It was addressed to 16-year-old Nedda (Nelly) Rivas, the daughter of a night-watchman and a frequent overnight visitor to Peron's mansion in Olivos.

Eisenhower's Illness

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT
As he rests in the hospital in Denver, President Eisenhower has with him the nation's and the free world's prayerful hopes for a swift recovery.

Few men in American public life have ever been held in such deep affection as he, and the people's first concern now is with the personal suffering and handicap he must endure as result of the heart attack which struck him down.

They know the crushing burdens of the presidency. They know that what has happened to Mr. Eisenhower is the risk any man takes who assumes this great responsibility.

The President undertook this load reluctantly as a duty. But once into it, he tried more than most predecessors to organize his official life to escape some of the weight. For his frequent and sometimes lengthy vacations, he has been warmly criticized by his political opponents.

But they have consistently overlooked the fact that Mr. Eisenhower, in his working clothes, is a tense high-paced executive who compacts into a few hours tasks that have taken other White House occupants far longer. Furthermore, even a President's vacations are marked by steady attention to inescapable duties.

Now, despite all precautions, the President has been stricken. The people think of his misfortune as their own, not alone on account of their sympathy for him as a man they are fond of, but because they see in his well-being a prime self-interest.

To millions, both in America and beyond, Mr. Eisenhower is today the living symbol of the world's desire for lasting peace. He is the man who brought the Korean war to an end, who resisted U. S. entry into the Indo-China war, sought peaceful solutions in the touchy Formosan Straits, and at Geneva seemed to convince even the Russians that this nation wants to find answers to world problems without resort to arms.

It happens that the President now is also identified with the highest levels of prosperity this country has ever known. But it is the image of him as the man of peace that appears to explain best the remarkable hold he has on countless ordinary folk.

This trust, of course, was felt even before he won the presidency. It was the chief reason for his overwhelming victory in 1952. And it is the main one why he was regarded as unbeatable at the polls in 1956.

But his heart attack vastly alters the outlook for the coming presidential campaign. It is regrettable that this must be touched on in the early aftermath of Mr. Eisenhower's first physical distress, but the hard business of politics intrudes on every phase of a chief executive's life.

The blunt fact is that his illness greatly reduces if it does not actually end the prospect he will run for a second term.

Almost from the outset, he has not wanted to run again, and his family has opposed it. As recently as Aug. 4, the President said his decision would depend on many factors, "including the way I feel — health and everything else." Often in the last few months he has warned the GOP not to pin all future hope on him.

Doctors may well settle the issue now by telling him that to carry on his burdens beyond this term might mean a sentence of death. But even if they do not, Mr. Eisenhower will have strong reason to say "no."

It is always remarked that "one heartbeat" separates the vice president from the White House. When that heartbeat is an uncertain one, all is changed.

So Mr. Eisenhower's misfortune is also his party's. The Republicans face the monumental task of finding a man to replace him who can command even a fair share of the esteem in which he is held by the American people.

Private Jet Owners

Responsible for Sound Barrier Damages

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Private jet airplane owners are responsible for any windows or plaster they shatter in the process of breaking the sound barrier, Atty. Gen. Latham Castle held today.

Castle's ruling, issued at the request of State Aeronautics Director Arthur E. Abney, ordered jet owners to report to the Aeronautics Departments accidents involving injuries to persons or damage to property in excess of $100.

The department then determines the amount of securities to be posted by the owner to cover damage claims.

Jets owned by the federal government are not subject to the law.

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON says: Kremlin Leaders Chide Five U. S. Senators About Refusing To Sell Russia Food; Congressmen Poole Of Texas Is Lined For Red Visa; Railroads Get Tax Write-Offs But No Freight Cars.

WASHINGTON. — Word has reached the Agriculture Department that Russia is still anxious to make a deal for surplus U. S. food. The offer came from Communist Chief Nikita Khrushchev himself during a private audience in Moscow with five U. S. senators.

The question was brought up by farm-minded Sen. Milt Young, North Dakota Republican, who asked whether it would be possible for America to trade surplus American crops to Russia.

"It not only would be possible but desirable," replied Khrushchev through an interpreter. Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat, then launched into a technical discussion of the two nations' farm problems. At one point, Khrushchev remarked mischievously: "You have helped us to be self-sufficient by refusing to sell us surplus food."

He referred to the Soviet program to bring new farm land under cultivation. The American agricultural attaché later confirmed to the senators that Russia has opened 75,000,000 acres to farming.

This was forced, in part, by the administration's refusal to sell surplus food behind the iron curtain. The Russians can thank Sen. Joe McCarthy, who raised such a clamor against trade with the Soviet bloc that the administration lost its nerve and dropped plans for a sale. Secretary of Agriculture Benson had repeatedly recommended disposing of our surplus crops behind the curtain, but Secretary of Commerce Weeks fought against it. Finally the administration, worried about the political repercussions of McCarthy's clamor, sided with Weeks.

It now looks as if McCarthy and Weeks indirectly aided the Soviet farm program.

Note: Khrushchev also let the senators know he was annoyed with the Voice of America. "You can hardly call that a friendly voice," he snorted, though he admitted tauntingly: "You fellows have been traveling around Russia. How many Voice of America partisans did you find?"

HE SPOKE TOO SOON

More than 40 senators and congressmen went to Russia this summer. And only one was refused a visa. He is Congressman W. R. Poage of Texas, who was promised a visa but didn't get it at the last minute.

Poage and Congressman Harold Cooley of North Carolina, Democrats, went together to the Russian embassy before leaving Washington where they were assured they could pick up their visas in Helsinki at the Inter-parliamentary Union.

On the same day the visas were supposed to be ready, however, Poage made an anti-Communist speech at Helsinki. Speaking on disarmament, he declared that the Reds should agree to Ike's inspection plan, warned that past experience of the U. S. made us reluctant to place our trust in words alone.

"We don't want coexistence, but cooperation," he said. "The Soviet nations should stop shooting down unarmed planes... our prisoners should be released by the Reds... I will never take the bloody hand of the Chinese Communists as long as a single American boy remains in a Chinese jail."

Result: That afternoon Harold Cooley and the others got their visas, but there was none for Poage. He went to the Soviet embassy to inquire. Everyone played dumb. He then went to the Soviet delegation to the Inter-parliamentary Union. No results. Finally he had U. S. Ambassador Jack McFall telephone Ambassador Chip Bohlen in Moscow. Bohlen went to the Kremlin to inquire. Again everyone played dumb.

Poage finally gave up, turned over to Cooley the Helsinki-Moscow-Warsaw reservation he had prudently secured beforehand. Cooley took off for Moscow. Poage came back to Texas. He had spoken too soon.

RAILROAD TAX WRITE-OFFS

House investigators are preparing a blistering report, charging that tax write-offs for new freight cars benefited the railroads but not the public and suggesting that maybe the government ought to stockpile freight cars for an emergency.

Pointing out that the railroads have been junking old freight cars faster than they have been building new ones, the confidential investigators' report declares, "while the private interests of the railroads have been well served, the public interest has been ignored completely."

During the last five years of rapid tax amortization, the report asserts, railroad earnings "have substantially improved over the previous five years and in some instances equalled the earnings during World War II. However, combination of high earnings and rapid tax amortization from 1950 to 1955 have failed to produce as many new cars as were installed in the previous five-year period. From these facts it is difficult to reach any conclusion other than that the railroads have substantially improved their business operation and financial condition and at the same time have failed completely to expand the nation's defense railway transportation potential."

"Rapid tax amortization was granted to any railroad purchasing a freight car," the report also charges. "No application was denied on the grounds that it represented a replacement."

The confidential report was prepared by investigators for a House Government Operations subcommittee and, as now written, rips into the railroads for accepting $1,500,000,000 in tax write-offs while failing to build up the nation's freight-car fleet.

Once Feared Killer Dies in Prison

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—William (Wee Willie) Duddy, once the feared killer of a police chief, died Thursday in a Stateville Prison bed of a liver ailment.

The diminutive, 53-year-old gunman had spent the last 24 years at the prison near Joliet serving out a life term for the slaying of Berwyn, Ill., Police Chief Charles Levy in 1929.

Wee Willie, also known as "Baby Face," terrorized Chicago in his teens during a six-month crime spree in 1929.

Miss Barbara Jo Lloyd Weds in Home Ceremony

Miss Barbara Jo Lloyd, daughter of Clifford Lloyd of Carrier Mills, became the bride of Robert Franklin Nutty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nutty of Vienna, in a simple ceremony performed Friday evening, Sept. 23, in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Josie Lloyd of Carrier Mills. Rev. Ernest Ammon officiated at the double ring ceremony witnessed by only members of the immediate family.

For her wedding the bride chose a street length dress of blue sheer wool with matching accessories and carried a white orchid on a white ribbon.

Mrs. John Dunn of Vienna, was matron of honor, wearing a gray wool dress with a shoulder corsage of red rosebuds.

Mr. Dunn served as best man. The bride attended Phoenix College, Phoenix, Ariz., and was affiliated with Chi Delta sorority. The bridegroom attended Southern Illinois university where he was a member of Chi Delta Chi.

The young couple will reside in Vienna.

Beta Kappa Chapter Begins Rush Season

Beta Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi began its rush season by sending invitations of black and yellow airplanes with the name "Spirit of Beta Sigma Phi" for a traveling dinner, Tuesday, Sept. 27.

The group first traveled to the home of Mrs. Ronnie Coon where the rushers were introduced and presented a corsage of yellow mums and served tomato juice cocktail and hors d'oeuvre from a beautiful table covered with a cloth printed with red roses and a center piece of greenery and candles.

After leaving the Coon home they traveled to the home of Mrs. Bill Brashears where they were served the main course from round tables with yellow rosebud centerpieces. Airplanes were made from wooden clothespins for place cards. They then traveled to the home of Mrs. Marvin Barnett, rush captain, whose home was decorated with fall flowers, for dessert and bingo. Bingo prizes were won by Mrs. Doug Ewell, Mrs. David Floata, Mrs. Gene Neihaus, Mrs. J. A. Bottomley, social director, won the traveling prize.

Committees in charge were Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Leo Podorsick, Mrs. Sam Porter, Jeannette James, Mrs. Bob Gaskins and Mrs. Brashears. Guests for the evening were Mrs. Elbert Norris, Mrs. Doug Ewell, Mrs. E. R. Bauer, Mrs. David Floata, Mrs. William Prusaczyk, Mrs. Donald Hughes, Mrs. James Henderson and Miss Jean Followell.

Summer Girl Scout Activities Reviewed At Board Meeting Held at McKinley School

The summer activities of the Saline County Girl Scouts were reviewed at the first fall meeting of the Scout Board which was held at the McKinley school Monday evening.

Mrs. Charles Farrar, president of the board, called the meeting to order and after the minutes were read by Mrs. E. J. Thompson, secretary, the various chairmen present gave the following reports:

Mrs. Donald O'Neil, campaign chairman, reported that 60 Girl Scouts attended camp at Little Grass lake this summer at an approximate cost of $13.50 each. Half of this expense is paid by the Council and half by the camper.

The registrar, Mrs. Eugene Morris, reported that Saline county now has the following troops and staff registered: 13 Brownie troops, consisting of 158 girls; 12 intermediate troops, consisting of 147 girls; 51 leaders; 41 troop committee members; 10 board members and 6 standing committee members.

Additional Girl Scout leaders are urgently needed as many girls are waiting to become Scouts, but cannot be admitted to membership because of a shortage of adult leaders. In reference to requirements for leadership Mrs. Farrar pointed out that there is no need for a background of Scouting experience or knowledge of any particular skill. The purpose of Girl Scout training, which was started in 1912 by Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouts, is to prepare girls to carry their share of responsibilities at home and be helpful to other people. Training sessions for new leaders are arranged by the local Girl Scout Council.

It was announced that the purchase of a camp site and a shelter is being considered for the Scouts and further activity on this project will begin as soon as the proposed site can be inspected and approved by a member of the National Scouting staff. Mrs. Farrar announced that Shirley Hutchinson, community advisor from Chicago, plans to be in Harrisburg on Nov. 10 and 11 for this purpose.

The board was happy to grant permission to Mrs. Francis Jahn, organization chairman, to organize a new Brownie troop in Eldorado. The troop leader will be Mrs. Gene Galeener, whose husband is scoutmaster in Eldorado. The new Brownies will be known as Troop 14.

Mrs. K. C. Capel, training chairman, led a discussion about a training course for Scout leaders to be held in Harrisburg for four days beginning Oct. 24. The school will consist of an 18 hour course and will be held from 10 a. m. until 2:30 p. m. each day.

Sen. Symington Hits Pentagon 'Bureaucracy'

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) today warned against "an ever growing bureaucracy in the Pentagon" and called for a "true unification" of the services that could cut five billion dollars off the national defense budget.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Executives' Club of Chicago, Symington charged that "all the vaunted talk about reducing the cost of government during this administration has been entirely at the expense of our national defense."

His speech came on the heels of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's announcement Thursday that military spending is running sharply ahead of original estimates.

Symington said that "while we continue to build obsolete weapons used in past wars, we neglect the development and production of weapons which are sure to be used in any possible future world war." He pointed to "service competition" now going on with respect to weapons systems.

Symington said unification of the services was the purpose of the National Security Act of 1947, "but because we have failed to achieve that end, we are now spending vast sums of money to perpetuate an ever growing bureaucracy in the Pentagon."

Farm Wife Held Captive 3 Hours, Knife at Throat

LYNN, Ind. (AP)—Farm wife Mrs. William Ramey was treated for shock today after she was held captive for three hours by two men who held a knife at her throat.

Mrs. Ramey told authorities the two young men, one of them a Negro, forced their way into her home Thursday afternoon. One of them carried a pistol and the other a knife.

Hold the knife to her throat, the men told Mrs. Ramey they were in trouble and demanded money, food, and a car. They helped themselves to food and changed into some of her husband's clothes, Mrs. Ramey said. After three hours, the men heard Mrs. Ramey's husband driving home. They left the house as he drove up and Ramey, quickly sizing up the situation, threw his lunch box at one of them.

Ramey then fled towards a neighboring farm house, but the men caught up with him. They forced him at gun point to hand over the keys of his car and then fled.

Storm Deaths Rise; Squalls Hit Midwest

By United Press

Two tropical storms piled up new death tolls in Mexico and Japan today and a squall line pushed rapidly southwest in this country.

Hurricane Janet, one of the greatest hurricanes of all time, amassed a death count of at least 473 before she pounded herself to death against the mountains of central Mexico.

Communications were down along much of the storm-ridden Mexican coastline and the fate of many communities remained a mystery.

Janet killed 206 persons in her sweep through the Caribbean island and then claimed 267 more lives in a destructive sweep across the Yucatan peninsula.

There was some destruction in Japan, where a severe typhoon Louise had killed at least 21 persons, injured 115 more, and left 11 missing. Five ships were sunk, four others were grounded, and damage in the battered southern Japanese area was estimated in many millions of dollars.

In this country, cool air moved behind a squall line from Oklahoma to the Ohio River Valley. Tornado alerts were posted for a while in the Midwest and more than 1.30 inches of rain soaked Fort Smith, Ark., Paducah, Ky., and Huntington, W. Va.

At Chicago, the Weather Bureau warned late Thursday that a huge swell known as a "seiche" was rolling through Lake Michigan towards the Windy City lakefront. Police patrolled the shore with loudspeaker cars, warning fishermen to get back and work was called off or delayed at some lakefront plants.

The seiche had dwindled to a three-foot swell before it reached the shore, however. Another seiche, which hit the Chicago shoreline in 1954, killed seven persons.

MAIL HOME NEWS OVERSEAS

A subscription to The Daily Register is the most welcome gift you could send to the men in military service in this country or overseas.

In it they will see baseball, football, basketball and other sports news that you would never take time to write.

Rates to service men at any APO in the world are as low as anywhere in the USA outside of the Saline county area—$8 per year. Address changes made without additional charge no matter how many moves are made.

Troop Withdrawal Tips Balance of Power In Favor of South Korea

TOKYO (U.P.)—Communist China's announced withdrawal of six army divisions from North Korea during October will tip the military balance in favor of the Republic of Korea and its U. N. allies, an informed source said here today.

American officers said before the announcement by Peiping Radio that the Communist and anti-Communist ground forces in Korea were equally balanced at about 775,000 men each.

Thus, observers said, a new troop reduction by the Chinese Communists would leave the U. N. side in the stronger position from the standpoint of manpower.

Bank Robbery is Fourth in Nine Days in Midwest

COLBY, Wis. (U.P.)—Three young gunmen who robbed the Security State bank of $40,000 and locked four persons in a vault eluded road blocks and a statewide alarm today.

The robbery Thursday was the fourth holdup of a smalltown Midwest bank in nine days. The methods used in the robberies are similar and the total loot comes to $77,940.

The latest robbery occurred just as Bank President Arthur R. Hemmy and three employees were preparing to close.

Although the four Midwest bank robberies were similar, authorities have not yet decided they might all be the work of one gang.

The first holdup, at Danforth, Ill., Sept. 20, was believed to have been led by the notorious "Queen Maggie" O'Connor, alleged brains of a gang of Chicago bandits. A man and a woman resembling "Queen Maggie" held up the Farmers State bank at pistol-point and escaped with $15,000.

On Sept. 26, two gunmen robbed the Union State bank branch at Carmel, Ind., which is run entirely by women, of $15,940. The bandits invaded the home of the bank's cashier and kept her and two other women captive for 11 hours while waiting for the bank's time lock to open.

In the third robbery, a lone gunman herded five persons into the vault of the Westport, Ind., Union Trust Co. and escaped with $7,000.

School Financing Center of Attention At Illinois Conference on Education

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—School financing was the center of attention today as nearly 1,000 educators and laymen at Illinois' pre-White House Conference on Education held final subcommittee sessions.

The subcommittees, one for each of six major educational problems proposed for the conference, were to bring their conclusions to a final summary session later today.

Gov. William G. Stratton was scheduled to address the closing session of the two-day conference.

Roderick McPhee, field representative for the national White House conference, brought up the question of federal aid to education almost as soon as the conference opened Thursday.

"You may have heard some attacks on the conference... may have heard that federal aid will not be discussed at it," McPhee said. "I would like to correct that," he said. "Federal aid will be discussed."

He also said delegates to the conference would name 24 of their number as delegates to the Washington conference Nov. 28-Dec. 1. He said he hoped they would name ra fouled to Hodges near the first base coaching box.

Dodgers Crush Yankees, 8 to 3

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers Third: Furillo doubled deep into the leftfield corner. Hodges grounded out. McDougald to Skowron. Furillo holding second. Robinson popped to Martin. Amoros was given an intentional base on balls. Podres struck out on a two and two count.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Yankees Fourth: Robinson threw out Mantle. Skowron struck out on a change up slow pitch. Howard was called out on strikes as Podres batted a fast one past him.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers Fourth: Martin held up the game while he went into the dugout to get a different glove. Gilliam singled to left. Reese fled to Cerv. Gilliam holding first. Snider walked on five pitches. Campanella hit the first pitch for a single to left scoring Gilliam and sending Snider to third, making it 5-2 for Brooklyn. Kucks went to work again in the Yankee bullpen. Howard went over near the fence in foul territory to take Furillo's fly. Snider scoring after the catch to make it 6-2. It was not a sacrifice fly but Furillo was credited with a run batted in. Hodges grounded out. Rizzuto to Skowron.

Two runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees Fifth: Robinson made a great back hand stop of Martin's sharp bouncer near the third base bag and threw him out. Rizzuto walked on five pitches. Podres had retired eight men in a row before walking little Phil. Bessent again started to warm up for Brooklyn. Bauer batted for Morgan and fled to Amoros. Cerv struck out for the second time in a row.

Dodgers Fifth: Kucks went in to pitch for the Yankees. It was his first series game. McDougald took Robinson's slow grounder and his throw to Skowron beat Jackie by a step. Amoros walked. Podres sacrificed Skowron to Martin who covered first. Amoros taking second. Gilliam fled to Howard.

Yankees Sixth: McDougald singled to center. Labine, the Dodger late inning relief specialist, started to warm up. Berra also singled to center and McDougald stopped at second. Mantle hit into a double play, Reese to Gilliam to Hodges. McDougald moving to third. Reese tossed out Skowron and the fans let go with the biggest cheer of the day as Podres weathered the storm.

No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees Seventh: The paid attendance was 34,209. Howard fled to Amoros near the leftfield wall. Martin grounded out. Robinson to Hodges. Sturdivant, a right-hander, began to warm up for the Yankees. Rizzuto walked for the second time in a row. Carey, a right-hander, batted for Kucks and tripped into the leftfield corner. Amoros leaping and grabbing the ball but failing to hold it as Rizzuto scored to make the count 6-3 in favor of Brooklyn. Cerv struck out for the third time in a row on four pitches.

One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

Dodgers Seventh: Rookie right-hander Sturdivant was the new Yankee pitcher. Howard made a leaping catch of Hodges' long line drive near the leftfield fence. Robinson doubled into the leftfield corner and went on to third when he tricked Howard into throwing the ball to second. Amoros singled to right past Skowron to score Robinson as the Yankee infield was drawn in for a possible play at the plate. Podres bunted too sharply and Amoros was forced at second. Sturdivant to Rizzuto. Gilliam walked. Reese singled to center, scoring Podres and sending Gilliam to third. Snider lined to Howard.

Two runs, three hits, no errors, two left.

Yankees Eighth: Robinson threw out McDougald. Gilliam threw out Berra. The Dodgers kept Labine warming up in the bullpen. Robinson also threw out Mantle.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers Eighth: Campanella doubled to the leftfield corner for his third hit. Furillo fouled to Berra. Hodges fouled to Rizzuto down the leftfield line. Robinson fouled to Skowron.

Yankees Ninth: Skowron singled to right. Howard popped to Gilliam. Martin popped to Reese. Rizzuto popped to Hodges.
